Feb. 8 E-Learning Day!

Tomorrow (Feb. 8) is an E-Learning Day for VES students. Students are expected to connect with their teachers in order to be counted as present for the day. It is also the last day of our current grading block, so students should use the day to complete any unfinished work. We start Grading Block 4 on Monday, Feb. 12, meaning the school year is 3/5 over already! Let's keep working hard toward our educational goals! Encourage your student(s) and make extra efforts to ensure they are in school. There is lots of learning yet to do this year!

MS Update Kayla's Advisory

Good day, the Tootie Frooties are hitting the end of grading block 3 feeling super energized and ready to learn, as seen in the photo. This week, Mak has been on vacation and we've gotten the pleasure of having Becky sub for her! This week is the end of grading block 3 and we are trying to finish strong. Next grading block, the middle schoolers electives are title reading, title math, beading, false spring shenanigans and woods. We are 60% of the way through the school year!

HS Update Brad's & Cynthia's Advisory

As a newcomer to the area, I'm finding it difficult to make it through these cold soggy weeks with a smile. So I asked the Kiwis, "How do you cheer yourselves up during the long, dark months?" From Binx I learned that "Hot cocoa, Halloween movies, and my cat Bruno" can do the trick. Elle and Tristan seem to have a similar ideas:

"Movies and video games!!"

"Coffee, video games, my dogs, and watching movies." Rylan reminded me that humans can be useful when he suggested, "Watching the new Percy Jackson series with my gf, and hanging with her dozen of cats," while Waase suggested these times can be used to grow: "Developing and drawing."

However you keep body & soul together, remember to lean on the staff here at VES. We certainly lean on you.
